

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system and method for transacting business utilizing remote and central locations. Each of the locations has an array of electronic communications 5 equipment for communicating information about goods and services comprising audio, video, and data between an agent at the central location and a customer at the remote location.